PA NEW OBSERVES

"Cars parked in this lot will be towed away at owner's expense," reads the sign in the rear of a local establishment.

Pa. New notes that the detour signs throughout the state are far fewer this summer than in the past, according to the Detour Bulletin of the State Highway department. There are no new detours in the local district for the period ending August 6. Oiling is scheduled to take place this week on the Harlanburg road, from Volant to Leesburg, and south of Ellwood City, on Route 88.

One of the busy spots in town when the turns change at the Shennango turn mill is at the east end of the bridge on Mahoning avenue. The line of automobiles is so great that a policeman stands at the intersection of Moravia street to direct traffic.

Water conservation is a problem for the kiddies who use Big Run for swimming pools. There is not much water in the run at present, and numerous dams have been built. The water is warm and swarms of bathers are found enjoying it from early morn until late at night.

Considerable street oiling has been done in various parts of the city. The greater part of it has been done by a tank wagon with sprinkler system, but there are several streets on which the old sprinkling can has been brought into play.

Some of the newly painted parking meter posts are already showing pencil marks.

Japs Assert Soviet's Protest Is Baseless

By JAMES E. BROWN

Copyright, 1937.

MOSCOW, Aug. 3.—Japs today rejected, as altogether baseless, Soviet Russia's vigorous protest against the "white Russian" and allegedly Japanese-inspired raid on the Soviet consulate at Tientsin.

In equally sharp language, the lie was hurled back by Mamoru Shigemitsu in an interview with International News Service.

The Russian foreign office advised me that it had instructed the embassy at Tokyo to protest against the consulate incident. But the information I have received from Tokyo is to the effect that the Soviet consulate at Tientsin was situated in the old imperialistic Russian concession—not the Japanese concession—and that it was violated by refugee white Russians—not by Japanese.

Deny Allegations.

Recess Judge Appointment Is Questioned

Controversy In Senate Over Power Of President To Act In Recess

CUMMINGS' RULING IS CONTRADICTED

Justice Must Be Confirmed By Senate—President Silent On Issue

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Already confronted by squabbles over pending legislation, congress faced a new adjournment obstacle in a senate row over the right of President Roosevelt to name a supreme court justice after congress goes home. The vacancy was caused by the retirement of Justice William Van Devanter.

An informal opinion by Attorney General Cummings that the president can name a new justice during the recess of congress provoked widespread denunciation on Capitol Hill. Senator Vandenberg (R) of Michigan, sponsored a resolution which would declare it is in the sense of the senate that the president shall fill the vacancy during the current session.

Disputes Ruling.
Rep. Hatton Summers (D) of Texas, veteran chairman of the house judiciary committee, contradicted Cummings and declared the president was without constitutional authority to name a successor to Van Devanter during the approaching recess. He said the president would have to name Van Devanter's successor before congress adjourns or wait until it reconvenes in January.

The Vandenberg resolution split Democratic ranks. Senator Connally (D) of Texas, denounced it as an "invasion of the president's prerogative." (Continued On Page Two)

Fear Collective Bargaining May Be Supplanted

Reveal Labor's Objection To Wage And Hour Bill Before Congress

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Fear that government regulation may supplant collective bargaining in many industries was revealed today as the major objection of President William Green of the American Federation of Labor to the wage and hour bill as passed by the senate.

Amendments designed to insure supremacy of collective bargaining were drafted at Green's behest for consideration by the house labor committee, called into secret session today.

While favoring a wage-hour bill and expressing willingness to compromise on many points, Green informed committee members the right of collective bargaining must be maintained.

Modification of the 35-hour week—70-cent-an-hour amendment voted by the house committee may be accepted by Green in an effort to obtain other concessions in the bill. "We want to find language to protect collective bargaining and restrict the board's authority in establishing hours and wages in industries where collective bargaining is in effect," said Rep. Wood (D) of Missouri, who conferred with Green.

Wholesale Food Markets Are Seriously Affected By Latest Walkout

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—Angered by an outbreak of violence throughout the city, Mayor S. Davis Wilson today declared he was prepared to take drastic measures in the city-wide drivers' strike, a walkout which virtually paralyzed trucking in this metropolis of 2,000,000 residents.

The sympathy strike, called by one unit of the A. F. of L. truck drivers' union, involves more than 6,000 drivers whose idleness seriously affected the wholesale food markets, where more than $500,000 worth of perishable foodstuffs will rot, merchants said, unless the situation is relieved within 24 hours.

Power, 25, pilot, and Harry Allen Wiegley, Jr., 17, student pilot and passenger. WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The Pan-American-Grace clipper, lost over Panama, today was found submerged 30 miles northeast of Cristobal, Canal Zone, according to a radio report to the War Department here from the chief of the Army Signal Corps in the Canal Zone. There was no sign of life aboard the wrecked ship.

(BULLETIN)

CRISTOBAL, Canal Zone, Aug. 3.—Fourteen persons are missing in an airliner which failed to complete a landing at Cristobal, on a flight from Lima, Peru.

More than 25 planes were scouring the area for miles around this port today in an attempt to locate the airship which may have been forced down on the sea.

On board the missing air liner were eleven passengers, including a mother and her two children, and the crew of three.

The airship, a twin engine Sikorsky Amphibian of the Pan American-Grace Airways, was making the trip from Lima to Cristobal on a new schedule. The distance between these two points is 1,810 miles.

The plane was approaching Cristobal when it became lost. The ship was last heard from about 7:40 o'clock last evening as it was heading for Cristobal to land. It was cloudy at the time and the ship flew through the clouds and nothing further was heard from it.

Oh tell me pretty maiden as you don your swimming clothes, what would your grandma say to you sans skirt or sleeves or hose? And what would Aunt Driscilla say back there at Whistle Stop, she'd probably throw up her hands and promptly call a cop. For ladies bathing suits today would shock those old time dames for they were dressed for swimming then and all the beach front games. But listen lady for a jiff, and darling don't look now, but I believe the modern suits are quite the nuts, and how. Perhaps they'd shock your maiden aunt, she'd call them quite risqué, but they look mighty good to me, its 90 today.

Dog Blinded By Flash Of Storm

It was not discovered until recently, that the cocker spaniel dog owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harold McCartney of the Mt. Jackson road, was blinded by the flash of an electric storm, which caused much damage to their home a few weeks ago.

"Curly" as he is called, was in the house at the time of the accident, and it was later discovered that he couldn't see, having been blinded by flash burns from the streaks of lightning. The pet is recovering nicely however, and it will be necessary to keep him in darkened quarters for a week or so yet. The electrical storm caused the chimney of the McCartney home to cave in, and plaster was loosened throughout the house. Fortunately, its occupants were away for the day, when it occurred.

NAME TAMMANY HALL HEAD

Sullivan Given Post As Leader

Tammany Hall Prepares To Push Copeland's Campaign For Mayor

WARM CAMPAIGN APPEARS CERTAIN

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—With wounds from internal strife apparently healed, the braves of Tammany hall today lined up behind their new leader, Congressman Christopher D. Sullivan, and pushed their mayoralty drive for U. S. Senator Royal S. Copeland.

Sullivan, 66-year-old Bowery boss, was elected unanimously. Asked if he planned to resign his seat in congress, he replied:

"Not for the present. I'd miss that check."

He plans to commute between New York and Washington, taking the midnight train to the capital when important legislation comes up, and flying back.

Known As "Sphinx"

A politician of the old school, "Christy" is known as somewhat of a sphinx. Politicians here and in Washington cannot remember when he ever made a speech. He succeeds the late James J. Dooling as leader of the hall.

To all indication, Sullivan's election will not affect the Democratic primaries, the new leader giving evidence of his intention to back Senator Copeland for mayor in defiance of the leaders of Brooklyn, Queens, Richmond and the Bronx, who have committed themselves to Grover A. Whalen.

Asked if there was any possibility of any agreement being reached with the other county leaders, Sullivan emphatically replied: "I should say not!"

is that we do not like to mix in any differences among the Russian people, whether they be red or white Russians.

"Claims that the Japanese have been fomenting white Russian attacks on the Soviet consulates at Shanghai and Tientsin are untrue,"

Claim Japan Responsible

Soviet protests had asserted that the white Russian (czarist) raid in the Tientsin office, where records were seized and furniture wrecked, was the work of anti-bolsheviks in the pay of the Japanese intelligence service.

Demanding "satisfaction", the Soviets asked that the raiders—whose identity is said to be known—be arrested and punished. Return of lost documents, reimbursement for damage, and measures to prevent recurrences also were asked.

Soviet Wrath Increased

Soviet wrath over the consulate raid meanwhile increased. The communist party newspaper Pravda issued a flat warning to Japanese militarists, comparing them to "mad dogs who commit depredations until they are caught in a trap."

Charging the consulate attack was deliberate and premeditated, the newspaper said:

"Japanese militarists have attempted many times to raid the Soviet frontier. They have received and will continue to receive a merciless hail of bullets."

"Having learned our borders are impregnable, they are now attempting to wreak vengeance on the U. S. S. R. on territory which they rule. They must know such attempts will fail and will not go unpunished."

The capital sought today to list the number of dead and wounded in one of the heaviest bombardments it has suffered in the war.

Battalions "Annihilated"

Salamanca, Spain, Aug. 3.—Four Spanish leftist battalions were "annihilated" when they failed in a desperate counter-attack on the Gijon front along the Bay of Biscay, a Fascist communique stated today.

In the furious onslaught, the Fascists said, the leftists employed two full brigades of militiamen.

RECESS JUDGE APPOINTMENT IS QUESTIONED

rogatives," Senator Burke (D) of Nebraska, concurred in Vandenberg's contention that the constitution required the president to fill the vacancy while congress is in session.

Fear New Party Rift

Administration leaders feared consideration of the resolution would provoke a lengthy and party-shattering debate. Having just successfully concluded a five months battle over the president's original supreme court bill, they had little taste for another major contest.

There were hints from administrative quarters that the president might not follow Cummings' advice and fill the vacancy before congress quits.

The whole controversy revolved around two clauses in the constitution. One gives the president power to "nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to appoint" supreme court justices. The other gives the president "power to fill the vacancies which may happen during the recess of the senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session."

Temporary Appointment?

There was no argument over the president filling vacancies that "happen" during a recess. It was protested, though, he has no power to make any temporary appointment to a post made vacant while the senate was in session.

Sumners, recognized as a ranking constitutional authority, said:

"The constitution provides that the president nominates, and by and with the advice and consent of senate, appoints. It provides that if a vacancy occurs during a recess of the senate, he shall have a special power to fill that vacancy by a temporary appointment. Both powers must be strictly construed. There is no authority in the constitution for a recess for the filling of a vacancy that occurred while the senate was in session. The language is as plain as can be."

Ethical Situation

There was unanimity of opinion on Capitol Hill that if the president should name a successor to Van Devanter after congress quits, the appointee should refrain from taking office until after he is confirmed. Burke warned he would fight the confirmation of any appointee who served on an interim commission.

Sumners, and even Connally, declared it would be "ethical" for the appointee to await confirmation. Burke asserted a violation of this "ethical rule" would make the appointee "unworthy of confirmation."

Authorities produced three instances, in which presidents filled supreme court vacancies during a recess of congress. All three vacancies, they said, were created during recesses.

Those aboard were:

Rex Martin, department of commerce, Washington, D. C.

G. O. Caldwell, department of commerce, Washington, D. C. Both Martin and Caldwell were en route to Cristobal, Martin having boarded the missing air liner at Guayaquil, Ecuador, and Caldwell at Lima.

Oscar Miller, of the Ford Motor Car Company. He was en route from Guayaquil to Cristobal.

Isador Souza, en route Guayaquil to Cristobal.

Sam Oliver, en route Guayaquil to Cristobal.

P. W. Kumble, en route from Cali, Colombia, to Cristobal. He had booked on Pan American Airways out of Cristobal for Mexico City and Los Angeles.

Another And Children Aboard American-Grace Airways

Mr. Amy Levering, wife of an employee of the company; her son, Jimmie, and her daughter, Jessie.

Stephen Dunn, pilot.

Lawrence Arnold Bickford, copilot.

Herman Diez Conesco, steward.

Search for the missing airliner proceeded over a wide area. Planes went out from Coco Solo and France air fields, the navy alone sending out 22 planes. Pan American-Grace sent out a tri-motored Ford and a Sikorsky amphibian in the search for the ship.

Pan American Airways assigned a clipper ship to patrol the coast line.

At the time last word was received from the missing airliner it was raining at Cristobal. Visibility at nearby France field was 500 feet to the north, and 5,000 feet to the south and east from which direction the ship came.

Pilot Dunn, as he was preparing to make a landing through the heavy clouds over Cristobal and Environs, gave no indication, it was announced, that he anticipated any difficulty in getting in safely.

"If the union does not take advantage of my offer for a peaceful settlement," the mayor said, "I propose to take very drastic action. This situation can and will be brought to an end today."

The city official, who has taken a leading part in the settlement of labor disputes here, announced he would ask two judges of the courts to sit with representatives of the strikers to discuss grievances. He said he would insist that "some 250 contracts affected by this strike will be carried out and enforced."

At the same time, Mayor Wilson instructed policemen not to take sides in the controversy. "It is your sole duty to protect life and property of the people of Philadelphia. You will call upon all good citizens to co-operate with you in maintaining law and order," the mayor's order stated.

Emilie Isolated

For the protection of the other four children, Emilie has been isolated in a separate part of the Dafoe hospital and has her own special nurse.

The other children were not in their play yard as usual today because of rain. If the weather clears they will be seen in their playground as usual. Emilie will remain in isolation for the rest of the week, at least, however.

All tests of hospital attendants and others who may have come in contact with the children proved negative. It would have been impossible for Emilie to have contracted her ailment from visiting crowds in that the children are kept behind screens and windows.

Drs. Dafoe and Brown believe someone who got inside the hospital brought the germs.

PAYING BILLIONS FOR PAST WARS

THE latest report of the Veterans' Administration conveys the familiar but tragically neglected lesson that war does not pay, even from the material standpoint. Even the War of 1812 has not yet been "liquidated." Two dependents of soldiers in that minor conflict are still on the pension roll.

Since the Revolution the federal government has paid nearly twenty-two billion dollars to war veterans. And yet this amount is small compared with the stupendous cost of carrying on the wars in which this country has engaged.

Republics are not always ungrateful. To a greater degree than any other nation the United States has cared for those who have fought and suffered in its defense and for their dependents. And for a century to come we shall be paying the heavy debt incurred in the World War.

Economy at the expense of needy veterans and their families will not be countenanced by the American people. But the extent of this fixed charge on the treasury should emphasize the necessity for calling a halt on the increasing routine expenses of the government which are piling up a mountain of debt for future generations.

NO MORE DIRIGIBLES

The United States government cannot be accused justly of lack of courage or initiative if it adopts a steadfast policy of opposition to further construction of dirigibles. Such a course would reflect, as a matter of fact, sound judgment and wisdom gained through tragic experience.

As the record now stands, there is nothing to support the theory that the dirigible is a practicable and safe means of transportation even under peacetime conditions. With war prevailing its possibilities of enduring would necessarily be reduced to a minimum.

Three of this country's naval airships—the Shenandoah, the Akron and the Macon—were destroyed in flight, with loss of personnel. Italy, France and England have suffered similar losses. Dirigible prestige was sustained only by the successful operation of the Hindenburg. With its destruction at Lakehurst a few months ago the last support of the dirigible cause disappeared.

The country will concur in the conclusion of Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, that, in view of the "disastrous experiences" with dirigibles, there should not at this time be further expenditures for their building and operation. Any contrary course would involve flying in the face of disaster.

LIGHTED CIGARETTE—$70,000 GONE

A short time ago, a careless Oregon motorist tossed a lighted cigarette from his car. An area of 5,000 acres, covered with good young timber, was burned. At the present average lumber price, that means that $70,000 in payrolls and supplies was lost to the state. And, according to a conservation authority, "it would really amount to a loss of well over a million dollars in the future resources of the state." Many decades are required before a burned tree is replaced and devastated land becomes valuable again. Preventing fire is said to be 75 per cent of reforestation. And more than 90 per cent of all forest fires are man-made. In every lumber state, you can see thousands of ghostly acres, covered with only the blackened stumps of once great trees—grim monuments to ignorance and carelessness.

Every individual owes his fellow citizens an obligation when he goes into the woods, or drives through timbered country. That obligation is easily discharged—but failure to do so may result in the loss of millions of dollars, and the ruin of irreplaceable natural beauties. Take the utmost care with smoking materials—and don't throw matches and butts, even though you think they're out, from your car. Watch campfires like a hawk, and when you leave, saturate them with water, then bury with dirt. Obey the law—especially the local rulings that are put into effect during fire seasons in areas where hazards are especially great.

Remember that forests are our heritage, and that it is up to us whether we dissipate or conserve that magnificent legacy.

THE FLOOD CONTROL MYTH

It is becoming increasingly evident that lumping power development with flood control, as is done in governmental hydro-electric projects, is economically and scientifically wrong.

From the engineering standpoint, a dam that is suitable for steady power production is next to useless for flood control. A power dam must be kept full of water, in order to maintain the flow that produces energy. A flood control dam must be kept empty, in order that it may be instantly ready to receive and hold excessive run-off in time of flood.

The camouflage of flood control serves a political purpose. It enables officials to write off a large part of the cost of power development to "flood control," and make the "power" investment appear much less than it really is. It also makes it possible to show figures on operating and investment cost that are misleading.

But that doesn't help a community in time of flood. Nor does it help the taxpayers, who are putting up hundreds of millions to pay for the dams. It doesn't help the investors in the private utility industry. It doesn't help private enterprise, which is becoming increasingly chary of investing its money in productive enterprise, for fear of excessive governmental regulation and competition which will make profits impossible.

It has been proposed that legislation be passed whereby flood control will be divorced from power production in the federal projects. If such a bill became a law, the people would have a chance to find out the truth about the real cost of the government ventures.

When you add "ism" to any policy or faith, it means less liberty for the individual.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

MOTHER GIVES EXPERIENCE

WE PARENTS would like to guide our children so well and live with them so well that if we dropped off at any time they would be able to live a good life without us. Now suppose you were very sure that you had only about two more years to live with your family. Let me quote from a letter by a mother of a boy 12 years old.

She says: "Since he was a few months old my health has been gradually failing, and it now seems quite certain that I will have to leave him in just a few more years. He, of course, does not know this, although he knows I am not well, and we have a happy time, the three of us together."

"Sometimes I have made mistakes; sometimes I have been at a complete loss to know what to do and learned not to do anything until I had decided; sometimes I thought I was doing the right thing but wasn't; but I have learned that many things I have worried about straightened themselves out in time, and I was rushing things too fast."

"Some things we agreed upon very early: we would tell Jack he was a good boy when he was, but never that he was bad; he must not be promised something if he were good; any promised thing must not be denied because of some last-minute badness; we must not show him off before others or discuss him before others. I think we have been fairly successful in these resolves. I do not wonder that some children act as they do when I have listened to their mothers for a while."

Caught In Small Theft

"Once I caught Jack in a small theft; he was five years old. Once I caught him in a lie; yet when these things were adjusted he never knew that I remembered them, and I would trust his honesty anywhere. I have never made it necessary for him to lie to me. We once lived by some people very religious, very conscientious, who taught their children to lie and steal by their methods, and it taught us a lesson. I never tattle on Jack, and certainly there is no 'You just wait until your dad gets home' at our house."

"I early discovered the chair-sitting punishment, and I think it a good solution to this problem, although Jack has had a few spankings when quite small. We have an electric clock, and almost at once he learned that he could not get off the chair even ten seconds before time. I did not let him read or play while on the chair, either. . . . I have tried never to threaten, but have not always succeeded. . . . Sometimes I have failed to make good my word. I am sorry to say. It really is not fair to the child. Sometimes, perhaps often, I realize, I have been too lenient because I feared I hadn't the backbone to go through with the more rigorous program."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THESE MOTORISTS

Motorists contribute much to the "Gaiety of Nations" even though they do also contribute to the obituary columns of the Press.

W. Rexford Brockelsby, who sounds like an O. Henry character, but in reality is a Santa Barbara man-about-town, wonders today what value a good defense is anyway.

As recounted in the newspapers, Mr. Brockelsby was out riding with another man's wife and a second couple.

Alongside drove the husband and yelled "I've got something for you!" Mr. Brockelsby then drove eighty miles an hour getting away from there. Police caught him. And his defense was the husband story.

Only trouble was that the husband was reaching for a powder puff to give to his wife.

And can you blame Mr. Brockelsby for, as the vulgar say, taking a powder himself? . . .

And there is Mildred Bryant Brooks, internationally known emcee. She is small, dignified, eminently correct. She was driving with her spouse, when she observed that the cap ahead loaded with a bureau, the cap ahead loaded with a bureau, the drawers were falling out. So they speeded up the car and as they passed, Mildred shouted "You are losing your drawers."

The man in the other car gazed down anxiously at his person and then indignantly at Mildred. Horror spread over the face of our sedate Mildred. Hurriedly she backed her car and repeated with immense dignity, "You are in danger of losing parts of your bureau," and drove on with hauteur.

BELIEVE IN SIGNS

The following item reprinted from the Pueblo (Colo.) Star Journal illustrates the fact that one cannot always believe in signs: "Much merriment was created by a sign in front of a church which read: 'Subject of Sunday Evening's Sermon: Do You Know What Hell Is?' Beneath it in smaller letters was printed: 'Come and Hear Our Organist.'"

One evening the little girl had been besieging him with an endless succession of questions, all of which he tried to answer. And just before the little miss went off to bed she asked: "Granddad Eli, were you in the ark?"

"Why, no," Uncle Eli explained smilingly. "Then," she asked, regarding him with innocent wonder, "why weren't you drowned?"

Education Leaps Century

Among those 3000 persons who gathered at Oxford, O., to honor a man who has been dead a half century were probably some oldsters who had used the once-famous 'McGuffey Readers by Grades,' which once set the American standard. Today, like the Blue Back Speller, the McGuffey Readers are museum pieces.

Can it be that a hundred years have passed since the Pennsylvania-born, Pennsylvania educated Dr. William Holmes McGuffey published that famed Eclectic Series which he wrote while teaching philosophy at Miami University? The Federal McGuffey Clubs of America last year celebrated the centenary of his first Reader; now they are reminding that his third and fourth Readers have reached the century mark, although relatively few persons pause to recall these best sellers of that era.

After a term as college president, Dr. McGuffey died in 1887 at the University of Virginia. His Readers belonged to his own century, which was before debunkers of history became so stridently insistent that some of our major men and incidents were more human than inspired, also, before world history went on a rampage. Things printed in books were more quickly accepted if those were. Good and bad, straight and crooked, heroes and villains were differentiated with plausible clarity. Educational psychology hadn't developed into a hypercritical science, nor had anybody bothered about I. Q. tests.

Yet Dr. McGuffey looked forward and saw things his colleagues didn't. Some of these he put into his Readers. It may be even peered ahead this whole hundred years and envisioned educational horizons which would vanish every decade or so for broader ones, just as our own guides of youth already look ahead to 2037. —Philadelphia Inquirer.

Good Taste

DEAR MISS MARKEL—I cannot decide what color my living room floor should be painted. The other woodwork is all white. It is an old floor but in very good condition.

Answer—Stain the floor in a light sand or oak color which will be sufficiently dark for a room with white woodwork. Floors that are very dark show every footmark and speck of dust that falls on them. And then, too, the nails used in old floors are more conspicuous against very dark paint.

In rooms having dark woodwork, the floor must be as dark or darker to give proper balance; but whenever possible, such as in your case, light paint, which has greater durability, should be used for the upper woodwork.

Dear Miss Markel—I have a very small bedroom—9 by 12—for which I am about to buy a new bed. Could you suggest something that will give me a maximum of space around it?

Answer—Buy a single bed—a four-poster, with low posts and very little footboard if your other furniture warrants an Early American bed.

A daybed without head or foot board or a studio couch will give even more surrounding space.

Miss Markel will promptly mail personal answers to questions from any reader including a self-addressed three-cent stamped envelope.

Tomorrow—Invitation to Informal Dinners.

TUESDAY, AUG. 3.

Aug. 3 In History—Ferdinand V. of Aragon and Isabella I of Castile, ordered 200,000 Jews expelled from their joint kingdoms. The next day, Aug. 3, 1492, Cristobal Colon, who himself appears to have had Jewish blood, sailed from Palos with three ships and 120 men, including at least three Jews, to explore a water route to the West for the greater glory of Ferdinand and Isabella. Moreover, the expedition was financed by Jews who would accept no interest upon their loan. For the old story that Queen Isabella's jewels were sold for Columbus' benefit is just a legend. Her jewels, which would have suffered by comparison with Marlene Dietrich's today, were already in pawn, mortgaged to the limit, when Columbus appeared. In Spanish royal court, all Ferdinand and Isabella gave him was a letter to the ruler of Cathay, which of course, was where Columbus thought he was going.

History has a way of giving too much mention to explorers, soldiers and lawmakers, and little or none to the engineers, the chemists, the other utilitarians whose lives actually make the heaviest impress upon what is known as civilization.

There could be no metropolitan New York with 11,000,000 population, without subways, skyscrapers, a sewage system that is one of the world's wonders and an aqueduct that brings rivers of water from 150 miles away. But who has ever heard of the men responsible for these?

The lad from a farm who made skyscrapers possible, saw one, Elisha Graves Otis, who was born at Halifax, Vt., 126 years ago today, Aug. 3, 1811, invented a safety device that prevented elevators from falling, and then made improvements on the elevator which with the steel girder, enabled architects to design practical buildings higher than five stories. Otis also developed the elevator's greatest competition, the escalator.

It also is deplorable lack of judgment that American encyclopedists consider Uriah Stephens less noteworthy than a senator, a historian, an Irish agitator and a poet of the same name. For Uriah was the man who at 48, started the Knights of Labor, forerunner of all organized labor movements in this country.

Stephens, born near Cape May, N. J., 116 years ago today, Aug. 3, 1821, started his career like Homer Martin, of the CIO automobile workers' union as a Baptist preacher. He was a garmentmaker in Philadelphia when he launched the K. of L., with the idea of making it a world-wide organization of tool-ers under one directing and controlling international head. This was the idea that his acquaintance, Karl Marx, who was never a worker, was to expand into a plan for a Communist International. Stephens, who WAS a worker, did not think in terms of communism.

Other Of Today's Yesterdays:—1692—Massachusetts court at Salem, sentenced six women to death for witchcraft. They were hanged, not burned, contrary to popular impression.

1777—Stars and Stripes were flown in battle for first time, at Fort Mifflin, N. Y. Hero of the battle, the man who saved the fort from the British, was Benedict Arnold!

1890—Charles Edison was born. Successor of his father as head of Edison Industries, he is now Assistant Secretary of Navy. Other of today's birthdays: Haakon II, king of Norway, b. 1872; Dolores Del Rio, photoplay actress, b. 1905; Adrienne Ames, ditto, b. 1907; Roy Arthur Hunt, president Aluminum Co. of America, b. 1881.

Children still prefer fairy tales to propaganda, a librarian tells us. Children have clean, wholesome minds. Disease does not thrive in sunlight.

Did you ever read a Russian primer? It tells all about the vicious, capitalistic United States where all children starve. It says nothing about Russian peasants, starving, wasting away on black bread or being shot for believing in God.

Best Strokes For Swimming Enumerated

(By Jack Hulme, Chairman of Life Saving for Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross.)

Every learner wants to be taught "the best" swimming stroke. But physical makeup varies considerably and thus must be taken into consideration.

Swimming facilities, and that includes good teachers, as well as places to swim, have developed so recently that a large number of the learners of today are adults. These have rather set muscles and joints which are not as flexible as the teen age youngsters, and yet many of them want to learn some variety of the crawl stroke. It is very difficult to achieve good results with the crawl for many of these late in life learners.

For youth the crawl is the thing. Young people love speed, or the appearance of speed if they cannot acquire the real thing. A study of the recent Olympic team place winners show that youth is preeminent, that all champions must start early to excel at this sport in which every muscle must function perfectly and in which more breath must circulate smoothly and without interruption to a greater extent than in any other sport. Which brings up the point that after all is said and done the proper taking and elimination of breath is the foundation of all good swimming, especially the competitive variety.

In its normal courses, the Red Cross through its aquatic schools, emphasizes the teaching of the dog-paddle or any simple, broken or rough crawl as a qualifying stroke for the beginner's test (50 feet) with proper breathing, and after that all the kicks are taught, and then the arm strokes without putting any of them together.

With three types of arm strokes and three kicks all of the nine basic strokes can be assembled very much as a modern auto is assembled from standard parts. Adults of middle life can get a lot of enjoyment out of the breast and side stroke. Out of the side stroke grows the overarm side stroke, using the same scissor kick, and the Trudgen which uses the same kick with alternate overarm pulls.

With the hand-over-hand or double overarm mastered, the addition tion of the flutter kick gives the crawl stroke, and the number of kicks for each complete revolution of the arms fixes the type of crawl: two, four or six, per arm cycle. Turning the student on the back the breast stroke works just as well upside down, and the European back stroke can be mastered.

If the pupil is strong, the Dorsal crawl can be attempted, sitting low in the water so the back inclines considerably from the hips to the shoulders to afford a proper planing surface. The head is out of the water, the legs flutter along parallel to the surface, and a lot of the water pressure on the chest is eliminated because the body "rides" so high.

The only way to find out which is the best stroke for you is to learn the parts and assemble them to suit yourself; your own physical capabilities must decide which of the standard strokes is best suited to you. Adults should not try to keep up with the youngsters but should concentrate on developing cruising radius and increasing distance daily until they have had their exercise quota and are ready for a period of real relaxation on the beach.

In tennis one has to carry his weight, and gets overheated very easily, and certain muscles are overworked. In swimming no undue strain is put on any group of muscles and your motor is water cooled. So my advice is, get fit to your stroke by trying them all one after another. A swim every day keeps old age away.

Lockley To Run For Controller

Prominent Young Man Known
To Many Enters City
Race Today

S. L. "SID" LOCKLEY

S. L. "Sid" Lockley, associated with the Lockley Machine company here and known to many residents, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for city controller.

A young man of 30, Mr. Lockley is known to many in athletic circles throughout Lawrence county. He is married and resides at 1022 Becker street.

Upon announcing that he would seek the city controller nomination at the September 14 primaries, Lockley declared:

"I feel that the citizens of New Castle should give serious consideration to the office of city controller, for it's a most important one in our municipal government set-up—far more important than many residents realize. It is the controller who is directly charged with safeguarding public funds and the auditing of city accounts. He must keep a constant check on city expenditures."

At the Lockley Machine company plant on County Line street, Mr. Lockley, a Geneva college graduate, has supervised the account work. Business and accounting has received considerable study on his part during and after college.

Civic affairs have always received his close attention and support.

"I have never before been a candidate for public office," Lockley continued, adding that "my only promise to those who have confidence in me and support me is that I'll fulfill the duties of my office honestly and to the utmost of my ability."

Lockley's name is known to many in school athletic circles for his interest in all types of sports. His host of friends in this city is large, and to them he addressed this message today:

"Your support will be appreciated. If I am nominated, I shall endeavor in every way to justify the confidence you will have imposed in me."

Borah Asserts No Vacancy In Court Exists

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Senator William E. Borah (R) of Idaho, one of the nation's outstanding constitutional authorities, started the senate this afternoon by asserting there is no vacancy on the supreme court, due to the retirement of Justice Van Devanter, and President Roosevelt has no right to name a successor.

Borah declared a vacancy cannot be created on the supreme court through the retirement of a justice, since the incumbent remains a justice of the supreme court. He called attention to the retirement act, which calls the retired man a justice and authorizes the chief justice to assign him to duties in the lower federal courts.

Borah added he believed the president's delay in naming a successor to Van Devanter was because the attorney general had ruled there was no vacancy.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown, of Washington, Pa., cousins of the late Louis B. Mather, of Highland avenue, were here Monday afternoon for the funeral services.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Mather, of Pittsburgh, were in New Castle for Monday afternoon for the funeral of the former's brother, Louis B. Mather, Highland avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Mayo Porter and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Shaffer and daughter, Barbara Jean, of this city, spent Sunday at Sandstone Springs and Heart's Content in Allegheny National Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Heineman of Youngstown, O., Miss Helen Harper of Harrisburg, Pa., and Miss Leah Brest of Moravia, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hutnick of McClelland avenue.

Mrs. James Gibson, who underwent an appendicitis operation in Jameson Memorial hospital, has improved sufficiently to be removed to her home in the Withers Apartments on the Wilmington road.

Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Morgan and son Richard, Jr., and daughter Florence Jean of Elizabeth street have returned home after spending the week-end in Warren, Pa., as the guests of friends.

Mrs. Jack Jenkins and daughter Dorothy, of Cunningham avenue, have returned from an extended visit with friends in Philadelphia and Atlantic City. While in Philadelphia they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Grant, former New Castle residents.

The condition of Elmer R. Patterson of 2407 Highland avenue, district supervisor of education and recreation projects of the Works Progress Administration, still remains very serious and he has been removed to the Bashline-Rossman hospital in Grove City for treatment.

Mrs. Mary Bradford and daughter Alice, and Mrs. Caroline Richards and Harold Rodgers, all of this city, have departed for Chicago, Ill., where they will visit with relatives for a period of one week. They will also spend some time with friends in Elkhorn, Wisconsin, before returning.

George Gray and daughter, Gladys Gray, Adams street, have returned to their home following a tour which took them through Washington, D. C., Richmond, Va., and the Natural Bridge, Va. They were accompanied by the Misses Gladys Westlake, Hazel Mariacher and Helen Mariacher of Mercer.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wallace of Blaine street, have received word of the critical illness of the former's uncle, Dr. C. R. Wallace, of Struthers, O., who is well known here. He is confined to the Youngstown City hospital, where he recently underwent a serious operation. He is not permitted any visitors.

Two Girls Meet Death By Fall

New York Girls Playing
"Follow Leader" Fall
Five Stories

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Death today nullified the heroic efforts of police-men and a hospital interne who rescued two 10-year-old girls fatally injured in a five story fall down a shaft between two buildings.
Encouraging their mother's high-heeled slippers for a game of "follow the leader" over the rooftops, the two girls, Lorraine Chinchar and Marilyn Murphy, set out with another girl, Carmela Denino, 11. They started to climb across the narrow way between a warehouse and the tenement in which they lived.
The narrow shaft was covered with wire mesh concealed by tar paper. The high heels worn by Lorraine and Marilyn punched through the thin covering and the screaming girls plunged to the bottom, where the shaft was only ten inches wide. Their bodies were wedged in the shaft.

Die In Hospital
Their frightened playmate, Carmela, called police. While a crowd of 4000 in the street cheered, Patrolman Wm. Grossman was lowered by a rope which he used to hoist Lorraine to the rooftop.
Then Dr. Philip Zoller, 27, an interne and former N. Y. U. football player was lowered to rescue Marilyn. He reported however, that her spine was fractured. He said she could not be lifted up and would have to be moved through a hole in the 16 inch brick wall on the first floor of the warehouse.
While Dr. Zoller gave Marilyn a hypodermic to lessen her agony, firemen broke through the wall. Smiling bravely, the little girl was carried to the street on a stretcher while the crowd cheered.
Both children were injured so badly, however, that they died in a hospital. Lorraine's skull was fractured, Marilyn succumbed a few hours later.

Butler Candidate For City Council

Announces His Candidacy For Re-election—Serving
His First Term

B. F. BUTLER

In announcing as a candidate for the office of Director of Streets, I do so with a full understanding of the duties and responsibilities of the position. There are some improvements that could and should be made if there were sufficient funds available for the work. However, expenditures must be confined to the amount set up in the budget, which is under councilmanic control.

Many permanent improvements to city streets and sewers have been made within the past three and one half years, of which you should and will be informed later. This knowledge, may serve in determining the candidate you will support in the primaries and at the general election. Should I be favored with your support, I can only promise to do my best with the funds which may be allotted to this department. Councilmanic duties cover a wider scope than those embraced in any particular department. I have always endeavored to be fair in departmental relations. It is not possible to agree on all matters brought before councils for settlement, and the vote of each member should register his sincere convictions on the questions discussed. Such has been my policy, and will continue to be so long as entrusted with the duties of the office.

Very truly yours,
B. F. BUTLER.

Twisted Spines Affect Driving

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—"A screwy spine makes a screwy driver."

That was the thesis today of an address by Dr. Lee Shropshire before the American Progressive Chiropractic Association, in convention here.
Dr. Shropshire contended that motorists with twisted spines were prone to steer a twisted course.
"We believe that when vertebrae are not out of alignment, pressure on the nerves affects organic functions," Dr. Shropshire said. "When the spine is crooked muscular reactions are so altered that a man is unable to drive efficiently. So we might say that a screwy spine makes a screwy driver."

Mr. DuPont called young Roosevelt a nice boy and the Pittsburgh Press changed it to "a nice buy." Linotypers are cynical guys.

REPORT CHINA IS MOVING TOWARD WAR DECLARATION

where they faced a Japanese column. Tsangchow and Kalgan were other focal points. At every move, they were bombed or "strafed" by Japanese aviation.

3—Through war taxes and an emergency budget, Japan began to assemble a Chinese war chest of more than $120,000,000.

4—Japan flatly rejected Soviet Russia's protest over the "White Russian" raid on the Soviet consulate at Tientsin. Reports in Finland said Russia had decided to aid China.

5—Japanese troops barred Americans trying to take urgently-needed medical aid to refugees in the United States mission at Tientsin, near Peking. Seeing at Tientsin, the prospective theater of war, officials warned Americans to concentrate in the capital, Tsinan, and Tsingtao.

To Break Diplomatic Relations?
Tokyo, Aug. 3.—A declaration breaking off diplomatic relations with Japan has been drafted by the central Chinese legislative council at Nanking. A Japanese dispatch from Shanghai said today.

The decree—preliminary to a declaration of war—will be promulgated as soon as it receives the approval of the central political council at Nanking, the account said.

While the Japanese government took emergency measures to raise a Chinese war chest of more than $120,000,000, newspaper and semi-official dispatches from the Asiatic continent indicated that hundreds of thousands of Chinese troops are steadily enveloping the Peking-Tientsin area from the provinces of Chahar, Southern Hopeh, Shansi, and Shantung.

With its vanguard massed at Paoingfu, 85 miles southwest of Peking, the main Chinese force of about 20 divisions, is lined up along the Peking-Hankow railroad.

May Number 300,000
If these divisions are recruited up to their full strength, this branch of the defending army must number nearly 300,000 trained men.

Strong defenses now are being constructed at Paoingfu, against which a large Japanese force is understood to be moving.

The spearhead of another advance, along the Tientsin-Pukow railroad, is establishing positions at Tsangchow and Machang.

Laws calling for emergency taxation totaling 102,000,000 yen (nearly $30,000,000) for North China campaign expenses were introduced into the diet today by the government.

Later in the week an emergency budget of 300,000,000 yen (about $90,000,000) will be presented for the same purpose.

Higher income taxes, a luxury tax, and war profits taxes are included in the new measures.

Massing Chinese Forces

Peking, Aug. 3.—Massing of vast Chinese armed forces, estimated to number as high as 200,000, in a great triangle around the Peking-Tientsin area today led to frantic Japanese military measures to break up the concentrations before the two countries are joined in a great war.

Paoingfu, 85 miles southwest of Peking, loomed as the possible major opening battle of the struggle, or several days later bodies of Chinese troops have been moving on Paoingfu, which was partly destroyed by a Japanese air raid last week, along the Peking-Hankow railway.

Against them a strong mechanized Japanese column is striking southward, having already passed Luliho, and with Paoingfu reportedly its objective.

Other divisions of the Chinese army are congesting the Tientsin-Pukow railroad as they move toward the borders of Hopeh Province, latest Japanese "conquest."

Unexpectedly, a third movement of Chinese forces started at Malgan, northwest of Peking, and efforts to halt the advance resulted in a minor clash in which, according to Chinese sources, a Japanese expedition was turned back.

Techow, one of the focal points of the Chinese advance, was heavily bombed by Japanese airplanes, and all troop trains are subjected to repeated machine-gun "strafing" as they wind slowly northward.

Japan meanwhile rushed more troops into the Hopeh-Chahar area from Manchukuo.

How genuine are fears that a major war is in the offing was shown when Americans in Shantung province, which may be the center of the fighting, were warned to concentrate in the capital, Tsinan, and Tsingtao.

Disarming of the North China barracks outside Peking was asked of the Chinese commander today by the Japanese embassy. Five thousand Chinese troops remain there, with 320 machine guns and 2700 rifles.

A Soviet protest against the "White Russian" raid on the Soviet consulate at Tientsin lay before the Japanese embassy today. Soviet Ambassador Dmitri Bogomolov said he had "protested vigorously" and demanded redress.

attired in typical millman's clothes. He wore the usual overalls, dark blue shirt, heavy shoes, one clean white sock and carried a soiled cloth. He also wore an extremely heavy belt. He was judged as being about 28 years of age, approximately 6 feet in height and slender. He has blue eyes and a dimple in his chin. His Adam's apple protrudes prominently. He was unshaven. His pockets contained a penknife, matches, a rubber band, two street car checks and about $1.32 in change.

City police and New Castle hospital attendants are endeavoring to learn the identity of the young man. Any person having information that may lead to identity is asked to get in touch with hospital officials or city police.

This afternoon, the patient's condition was reported as still critical. He was still unconscious.

WILL BUILD NEW AMERICAN LUXURY LINER

Will Open Bids On September 15

Will Take Place Of Leviathan, Which Is Too Costly To Operate

WILL COMPETE FOR ATLANTIC TRAFFIC

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Designed by the U. S. maritime commission in collaboration with officials of the U. S. Lines Co. and shipbuilders, bids for the construction of a new American luxury liner will be opened here September 15.

It will take the place of the company's Leviathan, withdrawn from service because its engines were too costly to operate.

Chairman Joseph P. Kennedy stated today that while the new ship will not measure anywhere near as large as England's Queen Mary or France's Normandie it will be slightly larger than the present flagship in the American fleet—the Manhattan and Washington.

New Features.
The vessel will carry every modern safety device, he said, and will have "unexcelled accommodations" for both passengers and crew. Some of the ship's features will include a three-compartment stability unit which will permit any of the three compartments throughout the length of the ship to be flooded in time of accident without endangering the rest of the ship, and some lifeboats propelled by motors and equipped with radio.

Kennedy said the ship "will enable American shipping to compete more successfully with the foreign-flag vessels for the rich north Atlantic traffic."

The new liner will have a speed of about 22 knots with accommodations for about 1,200 passengers and crew of about 630. The crew will have a recreational deck and the passengers of all three classes will have all-weather, or covered, promenade decks.

'Family Outing' Is Planned By Rotary

Picnic Announced For Later In August; Business Talked Monday

The Rotary club will hold a "family outing" sometime during the third week of August, it was announced at the club's regular meeting at The Castleton yesterday. The noon session was devoted to business.

Committee chairman made regular reports Monday. The picnic announcement came during the report of Richard E. Rentz, chairman of the social committee.

President Walter W. Duff presided throughout the meeting. At his side was J. Lee McFate, acting secretary of the club during the absence of Secretary Carl E. Paisley. Guests included Manager W. J. Michael of the federal social security field office here, Borough Manager Lowell Monroe, of Ellwood City and V. R. Houston, Northampton, Pa., affiliated with the state hospital there.

Philadelphian Has Lost Faith

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—Bernard Britton, owner of a center-city haberdashery, today still believed in his salesmanship, but his faith in mankind slumped a little.

To attract attention to his show windows, Britton pinned several $1 bills to shirts. It worked—too well. A thief tossed a brick through the display window, collected the money and left the shirts.

Minister Breaks His Leg By Fall

Lawrence county is now in very good financial shape, according to a statement of the county commissioners submitted today. By way of comparison it is shown that on June 30th, 1936, there was $114,684.48 in the general and poor fund, and the county owed $171,000 borrowed money in anticipation of the payment of some bonds.

At the close of June 30th, 1937, the general and poor fund balance was $140,615.04 and the county did not owe anything. On July 31, 1937, the treasury showed a balance in general, poor and gas funds of $313,827.95 over the same date in 1936. This is a remarkably good showing.

There were 42 instruments of all kinds entered at the register and recorder's office during the past week. Of this number, 23 were deeds, seven were mortgages and the balance other papers. Four of the mortgages, totaling $12,050, were to building and loans; two, totaling $2,200, were to a real estate improvement company, and one, for $1,320, was to an individual.

County Commissioner Floyd Cotton has been securing new voting places and renewing arrangements for old ones during the past week. Some new places are made necessary owing to additional precincts. The places so far secured are as follows: eighth ward, third district, Polish hall, corner Hanna and Ralph avenues. Eighth ward, first district, room 809 South Jefferson street. Third ward, fourth district, Kennelberry garage, corner Rock and Mulberry streets. Third ward, fifth district, barber shop of Frank Doerr, 1021 Croton avenue. Ellwood City, second ward, City building. Ellwood, first ward, second precinct, store room of Guino D. Leonard, 1021 West Lawrence avenue.

Mr. On Courthouse Hill, New Castle, Pa.

I noticed in the paper that Mr. Rentz and Mr. Pritchard had gotten invitations from Mayor Wilson to be his guest in Philadelphia on August 7, and suggesting that all who got such invitations get together and ride down on horses. I got one of those invitations, but there are astronomical reasons why I vote against riding down on a horse. Some say that my reasons are not astronomical but ascetic. Well, anyway, they relate to bright and shining spots that would arise on the seat of discipline. Besides, that invitation is for August 7 and not December 25. I'm off the horse, and I'm going to stay off.

WILLIAM McELWEE, JR.

The boys and girls dress so much alike these days that it's hard to tell which from 'tother. This was forcibly illustrated the other day when a couple applied for a marriage license. Both had their hair cropped, and were dressed so nearly alike that the clerk had to take a second look to tell which was the would-be bride. A hitch occurred in answering the usual questions, and the clerk sent for Prothonotary John A. Edgar, who was up in one of the courtrooms. When he arrived the trouble was explained. "Where's the girl?" demanded Edgar. Then it was explained that one of the parties before him was a girl and he saw his mistake. However, it was found that some additional data was needed before the license could be issued. The couple left saying that they would be back, but so far they have failed to return.

Janitor Clifford James, who has been enjoying the sea breeze out along the Slippery Rock creek for the past week, has returned with a cold that is ready to peel off. He says he got it angling for sunfish. Being an amateur in the fishing business, he did not know that it is necessary to wear a mask when catching the dazzling sunfish.

In the case of Morris Newmark against William Pasquarella, the defendant has presented a petition to court asking that a judgment be opened. Defendant says that on August 18, 1932, a judgment was entered by virtue of a warrant of attorney on a note for $300 against defendant. Christina Pasquarella has since died. It is claimed that on August 17, 1932, defendant owed Newmark $200, more or less in rent, and plaintiff came to defendant's home with a $300 note, which Christina signed as maker. Defendant says he was not present, but his name was placed on the note by his nine-year-old daughter. He claims that he did not at the time, nor has he since, sanctioned his name to the note, and wants to be released. A rule was granted.

While on his vacation trip East, District Attorney Mont L. Alley attended the state convention of district attorneys, held at Hershey, Pa. There was a two-days session, at which the principal discussions were regarding laws affecting criminal court procedure. Mr. and Mrs. Alley drove as far east as Portsmouth, Me., spending some time in the White Mountains and also in the Adirondacks.

Judge Walter D. Braham who was here Saturday and Monday holding court, has returned to Chautauqua, where Mrs. Braham and family are spending the summer. Judge Braham has been driving back and forth, but is getting a little tired of the scenery. He is anxious to get into his new home on Hazelcroft avenue, on which the decorators are now placing the finishing touches. The judge has a very fine catch of grass on his new lawn, which is proof that it pays to sow grass seed in the light of the moon.

AROUND CITY HALL

Whenever Walnut street is resurfaced the New Castle Street Electric Railway company will abandon its line in that thoroughfare and use the Crawford avenue route to reach Croton avenue. It was stated by Superintendent T. C. Moore to council at city hall yesterday. The city plans to put a sewer in Crawford avenue. However, the money has not yet been allocated for the job by the WPA according to City Engineer Glenn Throop.

Taking fingerprints of a live person is not a difficult task but to fingerprint a person who has been killed and whose body is mangled is a rather gruesome task. However, this is one of the duties that Chief of Detectives Ray Showalter several times has been called upon to perform. He left his bed to do so a few nights ago and on several other occasions the fingerprints taken have been the only means of establishing the identity of the person who has been killed or drowned.

There is a double reason why motorists should not park around the Public square between midnight tonight and 6 a. m. Wednesday morning. In the first place parking prevents the street cleaning machine from operating as it should and in the second place stalls are being painted for cars and which they will occupy when the meters have been installed.

McMillen Ends Special Audit

C. L. McMillen, who has been employed for about a year to audit the accounts and check the records of former Solicitor Robert White from May 5, 1934 to May 8, 1936, on Monday submitted a report, supplemental to one he presented last April. The report was placed by council in committee and will be studied.

According to McMillen's report he found correct the cash receipt book accounts, monthly reports made to the city treasurer and the miscellaneous receipts of Mr. White.

The auditor thanked Miss Sarah Boyles and Miss Mary Maher, employees of the solicitor's office for the hearty cooperation and valuable assistance they gave him during the audit.

With the filing of the letter today McMillen left the employ of the city as a special auditor.

ARREST SEVENTEEN DURING MONTH FOR SPEEDING

Seventeen motorists were arrested in New Castle last month for speeding motor vehicles according to Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell. Each was fined $10.00. Fifty four others paid fines for parking too long in one spot and 17 other motorists paid fines for violating other city motor vehicle ordinances.

Champion Farmer Will Be Chosen At Walla Walla

Contest To Determine Best "All-Around Farmer," To Be Staged

(International News Service)
WALLA WALLA, Wash., Aug. 3.—What are the requisites to being the "world's best farmer?" Walla Walla county citizens think they know.

A contest to determine the champion "all-around farmer" of the world will be held here Sept. 2, 3 and 4.

There'll be hay pitching and hog driving. There'll be ten other events to attract the farmers for miles around, for what is believed the first such contest in the country.

Total possible points will be 2,000. Events will be graded from 50 to 500 points.

Other Novel Events

Besides hay pitching and hog driving, 150 and 50 points apiece, there'll be tractor driving in the field and milking. Both events will count 200. Then sack jiggling and sewing, and wheat bucking will rate another 175 apiece.

"Book farmers" will get a chance to demonstrate their "larkin" when the rural contestants are examined on general farm information. This one counts 500 points.

Next thing in the farmers' marathon will be post hole digging and fencing, and furrow plowing. Only single-handed shovels will be used none of "these modern contraptions" being allowed. A perfect score will be 150.

Hay Shocking Listed

Farmers harnessing a team and driving away in the "accepted manner" will earn another 100 points. Hay shocking will count the same.

Entrants with vulnerable thumbs will shy at the next event, a nail driving and special instruction contest, to count 50.

The farmer piling up the greatest score in the three-day event will be declared "world's champion farmer" and given a $100 purse. The contest will be witnessed by hundreds of home folks and visitors attending the Southeastern Washington fair.

REV. BAILEY RESIGNS

Rev. Charles A. Bailey has resigned as pastor of the Pentecostal Holiness church in Sharon in order to take up work in the evangelistic field, and Rev. V. O. Rath, formerly of Conneaut, O., has taken over the pastorate. Rev. Bailey will continue his residence in Sharon.

South Side Girl Reported Better

Little Mary Ann Weidner, three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Weidner, 1315 Howard Way, who suffered a fractured right leg when struck by an automobile Saturday evening, was reported improving in the New Castle hospital, today.

The youngster was injured when she rushed to greet her daddy who was nearing home. The mishap occurred on the corner of Howard Way and Center Alley.

Leaf mould is now available for garden use, and is extremely valuable in the handling of certain plants. It, together with a peat doderons as well as for mountain laurel and the andromedas. It is very important to keep in mind the fact that plants of this character must have entirely different treatment from the other shrubs.

Rudy Vallee Is Sloppy Dresser

Is Least Clothes Conscious Of Any Present Day Celebrities

SNORING CAUSE OF MUCH DISTRESS

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Rudy Vallee, for years America's No. 1 Heart Throb, is the despair of his valet, his girl friends, business associates and tailors. He is the least clothes conscious of the celebrities, refusing to submit to more than one fitting when he comes to freshen his wardrobe.

Photographers who take his picture for publicity purposes always have to tidy him up before pressing their bulbs when he comes for a sitting.

He is good natured about it and submits to their suggestions, but left to his own devices, he's soon back in the old sartorial rut.

He once appeared at a benefit dinner in dinner jacket and tan oxford. When chided for his dereliction he grinned sheepishly and sent out to the drug store for a bottle of black shoe polish. His most atrocious taste, however, is for neckties and he goes on a necktie shopping spree often.

The next most difficult sitee, sartorially, for the photographers is Heywood Brown. He, too, is amiable about his lapses and will allow them to comb his hair, pull down his vest and indeed, if necessary, send out for a barber and pair of suspenders to supplant the familiar belt.

Snoring is a common difficulty passed over lightly but there are exceptions. Indeed snorers who have found their affliction a cross. There is, for instance, an industrialist from Toledo who, when he comes to New York, goes to a private home in a far reach of Brooklyn to sleep because of his stentorian snores. The woman who rents him the room is totally deaf. Several times he has been asked to leave hotels on account of complaints. Two operations have offered him no relief.

Since Dashiell Hammett, once a Pinkerton detective, made such a ten strike writing mystery stories magazine editors say they have been flooded with manuscripts from professional crime hunters. But so far no rival to Hammett. The fact is that most of the great mystery stories through the ages have been written by men and women who have led cloistered lives with practically no contact with criminals or the art of racking them. The real trick in the mystery story is not so much plot as suspense. Once a writer has made a reader feel that emotion of suspense he need worry little about the weakness or absurdity of plot.

Mystery story writing has always struck me the most engaging of literary pursuits. In no other branch of the trade do writers have so much fun. Usually they find it so attractive they live aloof mostly in remote sections of the country. The illustrious example of the art is, of course, E. Phillips Oppenheim, who has his chateau in France, country estate in England, a yacht and gathers most of his material watching the fashionables around the gaming tables at Monte Carlo. He has rarely worked more than four hours a day and at 70 is still eager to set down his imaginary adventures.

The late Arthur Somers Roche liked to plot his mystery yarns but disliked the actual writing and put it off until editors were on his neck.

Agatha Christie writes most of her tales late at night. She believes night is the most mysterious period and that a writer naturally absorbs this atmosphere. Rex Stout is also another late-at-night writer, and, of course, the master of them all, Poe, wrote best at night by a flickering candle with a storm raging.

I heard of a private home on upper Park avenue the other day that is staffed with 19 servants for a family of five. A housekeeper does all the employing and for keeping things running smoothly is paid $10,000 a year and given her own apartment with a secretary-maid. The family has seven automobiles and four chauffeurs. Three months a year they spend in Europe but keep their servants during the absence.

There is Burt MacBride's silly about a befuddled group in a bar at midnight. Suddenly the door opened and a voice shouted: "McGuire, your house is on fire." One of the party dashed out and, after running break-neck for a block, suddenly stopped and exclaimed: "Hell, my name isn't McGuire."

No Heirs Appear In Nuisance Case

Old Building At Corner Of Wood And Green Street In Dangerous Condition

Hearing on a petition of the City of New Castle to have a property on the northeast corner of Wood and Green streets, declared a nuisance, was held before Judge W. Walter Braham at Lawrence county court Monday.

The property is said to have been owned by Wallace F. Barbour and Ruth Barbour, and there are several heirs interested. None of them appeared at court. Some testimony as to the condition of the building was taken.

It was shown that it is in a very dilapidated condition, that the doors are left open and it has become a rendezvous for children. It is feared that some person may get hurt, or that it may be set on fire. Judge Braham will hand down an order later.

As only a certain number of hours may be worked by the WPA, workmen during any pay period, no work is done during a certain portion of each month.

However, the machinery which is being used to clean the exterior of the building is being rented and in order to keep from wasting money for the equipment when it is not being used, the cleaning staff is kept at work continually, and will work at the task steadily until finished.

Cemetery Said To Be In Bad Shape

Petition To Have Shenango Township Supervisors Clean It Up Are Circulated

Petition to have the Normal Glen cemetery in Shenango township declared a nuisance, and to have it placed under the supervisors of Shenango township, for a general re-habilitation, is being circulated and will be presented to the court as soon as one hundred signers are obtained.

The petition is being prepared under an act of assembly providing for the care of neglected cemeteries. The petition sets forth that the Normal Glen cemetery is located on the south side of a public highway leading midway between East New Castle to Savannah. It is claimed that it has been neglected to such an extent that it has become a nuisance. It is a very old cemetery and in addition to containing the graves of many pioneers, it also contains the graves of a number of soldiers of the civil and other wars.

It is grown up with briars, weeds and underbrush to such an extent that it is almost inaccessible, it is stated. The petition asks that it be committed to the care of Shenango township supervisors, with authority to clean it up and put it in good condition as provided by the act of assembly.

Life insurance now in force in the United States totals $104,500,000,000. This sum, representing 70 per cent of all policies in the world, is held by 64,000,000 persons.

Sopwith Asks For Delay In Yacht Racing

Granted One Day For Inspection Of His Yacht, Suffers Two Defeats

WORST DEFEAT IS HANDED BRITISHER

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

BRISTOL, R. I., Aug. 3.—The America's cup series, heralded through nearly a century as the proudest of the seas, shifted to this little shipyard town today and developed into a combination of force and fiasco. Lobster pots have entered into the situation.

After two straight defeats by ever-increasing margins, T. O. M. Sopwith requested and was granted a day's delay in today's race between his challenging Endeavour II and Harold S. Vanderbilt's defending Ranger, and both cutters were to be hauled out of the water—but for different reasons.

Handed the worst beating yesterday ever suffered by any entrant in an America's cup race over a triangular course, Sopwith was convinced that his Challenger ran into hidden misfortune of one kind or another and expected to find a lobster pot clinging to the centerboard.

Sopwith Bewildered
Vanderbilt was to haul Ranger out of the water for no other purpose than to have her bottom scraped and sharpened up to make it as tough as possible on the luckless and apparently inept British skipper.

In a formal statement after yesterday's defeat by 18 minutes and 32 seconds, or by more than three miles, Sopwith confessed his bewilderment over what had happened. He got away in front by fifty yards or more and Endeavour II was fooling along like a sure winner until just about an hour later when Ranger began to pull up and finally was a mile and seven tenths ahead before Endeavour II finished the first of the three 10-mile legs.

Over 6000 Get Fishing License In Mercer County

(Special To The News)
MERCER, Pa., Aug. 3.—Fishing licenses are still in great demand at the county treasurer's office, and more have been issued this year than ever before, the 6,000 mark having been passed some time ago. A new supply has been received and they can be obtained hereafter only from the treasurer's office. An act passed at the last session of the legislature forbids the appointment of deputies to do the work. In the past for the convenience of sportsmen living at a distance, arrangements have been made to have them issued at one or more places in practically every town in the county.

Other clubs of the country either have or will receive bass through Congressman Benjamin Jarrett for streams in their district. Mercer's club is to receive other bass as they are available.

Yanks-White Sox To Battle Today

Chicago White Sox In New York For Four-Game Series Today

YANKS PITCHING STAFF FALTERS

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Five games in front of the pack, the New York Yankees today open a four game series with their closest and most persistent challengers, the Chicago White Sox.

Perhaps 50,000 will see the two teams clash today in a double-header that should, and probably will, have an important bearing on where the American league pennant will lie.

The Yanks will meet this crucial test with Lefty Gomez and Red Ruffing and the Sox are expected to counter with Stratton and the veteran Ted Lyons.

The Yanks have forgotten all that talk about leading the race by 20 games in late September. Despite their tremendous power, they would be glad to settle today for one game at the finish of the race. Their pitching staff has been pretty well shot, and with memories of the three games the Sox took them in their recent four-game series in Chicago, the locals are not too confident of the outcome of this series.

Watch For Gehrig

The Yanks as a club hammered out 122 homers in 1936. That record still stands but they themselves may beat it this year. To date the Yanks have 117 homers to their credit and with 65 games left to play they may pass the 200 mark in homers.

Before the first game today, "Laruping Lou" Gehrig the Yankee's iron horse, will receive a watch from Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia, to commemorate the fact that when Lou takes the field he will be engaging in his 1600th consecutive game. Lou hasn't missed a game since he took over the first base job from Wally Pipp back in June, 1925.

Penn Powers Top West Pittsburgh

The Penn Power softball team managed by Howard "Sluiger" Warnock defeated the West Pittsburgh field 8 to 7 in a sizzling hot engagement. The game was won in the tenth inning by the Power boys.

Ward and Williams were the standouts for the Penn Power team, with Beres and Lazar the best for the losers. Hensley on the mound for the winners, pitched a fine game, he got himself out of some beautiful jams in several innings. Papa and Beras did the flinging for the losers, with Hensley and Weber the battery for the Warnockmen.

Probst Appointed Playing Manager

Charlie Probst has been named playing manager of the East Side Merchants and he will be in charge of the team when they play Rose Point at six p. m. today at Rose Point. The Merchants want to arrange a game for Sunday. Managers should call Probst at 31801, according to Business Manager Hank Stanley.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—There is no great love lost between Tommy Farr and his manager, Ted Broadribb. . . . Mister Farr has some very good ideas about his own ability to manage the affairs of Tommy Farr, and holds his manager in some contempt. . . . fr instance, Farr will keep 75 per cent of the purse he gets in the Louis fight, with Ted, old boy, getting 25 per cent. . . . The New York boxing commission rules call for a division of two-thirds for the fighter, and one-third for the manager. . . . but Broadribb agreed to let this ride. . . . before signing for the Louis fight, it was necessary for Farr and Broadribb to file a contract binding them together for a year. . . . Farr objected. . . . If seems their contract expires in March, and the fact that Farr didn't want to agree to a contract running to July suggests that he wants to be free of managerial ties in March.

This corner begs to report that in the meeting between Louis and Farr at the commission offices, Louis conducted himself very well, indeed. . . . When the welterweight was introduced, there was something of patronage in his tone and manner as he said, "Hello, my boy, how are you?" . . . Louis replied simply, "Hello, 'm glad to meet you." . . . The Bomber seems to be a little bit amused by all the Farr fireworks. I don't think Joe is a guy who can be beaten with loquacity.

The gossip is that Charley Dresden will move to the Giants' bench if Bill Terry decides he'd like a "chair" better. . . . But Prexy Giles of the Reds says Chuck's job is safe for this year and Rogers Hornsby is not being considered. . . . Ill health caused Johnny Kling, old Cub catcher, to sell out the Kansas City American Association franchise to the Yankees. . . . Kling has not been able to attend a game this year. . . . St. Louis fans think Frank Frisch may be on his way out as manager of the Cardinals. . . . he's an $18,000 man, and the St. Louis front office doesn't like to pay a bench manager that much scratch. . . . Bill Dooly of the Philly Record says Wally Moses of the A's is almost good enough to go to a pro team. . . . Doc Sutherland and Pop Warner will suture across the field at each other again when Pitt plays Temple next year. . . . If the Yankees go on to win a pennant with only Lefty Gomez and Charley Ruffing as dependable starting pitchers, the victory will be a high tribute to the hitting power of a ball club and will bring frowns of frustration to the statisticians who insist pitching is 90 per cent of a ball club. . . . Stock Market
Is IrregularTrading Continues At Dull Pace Today, Plus And
Minus Signs AboutBy LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The stock market was a highly irregular affair today, with plus and minus signs in pivotal groups about equally divided. Trading continued at a dull pace.

Rubbers, utilities, farm implements and most coppers were in fair demand throughout the forenoon, while lower prices prevailed in the steels and motors.Domestic commodity markets were mixed, featured by a modest recovery of better than 50 cents a bale in cotton. Grains continued sluggish, wheat slipping fractionally.
Price changes in minor commodities were unimportant.Bonds were led upward by second-grade rail liens. U. S. Government issues gained slightly. Curb stocks were mostly featureless.Several individual issues stole the speculative spotlight in the market.
Radio Corp. common was outstanding in the lower brackets, rising about a point in heavy dealings to around 10 in response to bullish first half earnings.Libby-Owens-Ford and Owens-Illinois Glass each ran up more than a point in their department. Electric Power & Light gained nearly as much in the utilities.Steels and motors lagged all the way. U. S. Steel and Chrysler slipped a point or so, closely followed by General Motors and Bethlehem.
Du Pont in the chemicals and Woolworth in the merchandising section each fell a point.Rubbers, several coppers and one or two farm shares were in moderately active demand and chalked up fair-sized fractional gains.STOCK PRICES

New Four-Power

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 3.—A new four-power pact, leaving Soviet Russia out in the cold and possibly resolving the Spanish civil war to thesatisfaction of the Fascist nations, but replacing the Rome-Berlin axiswith new bonds among Britain, Italy, France and Germany, appeared today a likely outgrowth of the new feeling of Anglo-Italian amity.During the conversations leading up to the exchange of friendly let-it was learned, Chamberlain told

Low-Cost Housing Bill Nearing Vote

Few Controversial Amendments Remain To Be Considered As Yet

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Only a few controversial amendments remained to be considered today before the senate votes on the Wagner $700,000,000 low-cost housing bill.

The principal amendments were offered by Senator Walsh (D) of Massachusetts. They would: Guarantee the program be devoted to slum-clearance as well as to low-cost housing, admit persons to the program with income under three times the rent, instead of five as provided in the bill, and set interest rates on loans to limit dividended corporations to four and one-half per cent, the rate the R.F.C. is now charging.

An amendment by Senator Austin (R) of Vermont, would give the U. S. comptroller general authority to audit allotments before they are turned over to the proposed U. S. housing authority. This amendment is backed by a bipartisan group which includes Senator George (D) of Georgia. George termed the provisions of the bill pertaining to rural low-cost housing a "fraud." He complained the bill is designed for large industrial centers only.
